

VOLUNTEER SPOTLIGHT

Thank you from the Chamber of Commerce:

Anna-Marie Moorers

Anna-Marie Moorers is a sales executive for ERA King Real Estate. She is from Homewood. Anna-Marie attended the University of Montevallo and Jacksonville State University studying Political Science and Public Relations.

Mrs. Moorers is heavily involved in our community through volunteering at the Chamber and at other organizations throughout Calhoun County.

She graduated from Leadership Calhoun County in 2008.

"I absolutely loved my LCC experience," said Anna-Marie. "I gained really good friends from that experience, and I am still calling on contacts that I met through that class. LCC helped compliment my career, as well as, other organizations I am involved with in our County."

Anna-Marie wears many hats at the Chamber. She is a part of the LCC Board; she is an Ambassador for the Chamber, and is on the Government and Political Affairs Committee. The Government and Political Affairs Committee come together and review our legislative agendas for the state and federal government to make sure our elected officials have the issues and topics addressed that are vital to our community.

"The Chamber is the Voice of Business, and they are able to handle various things that businesses might not get the chance to dedicate much time to, such as legislative issues," said Anna-Marie. "They also have a great platform to offer small businesses education opportunities through a variety of classes to keep them performing at their best."

Outside of the Chamber, one can find Anna-Marie volunteering her time as a member of the Anniston Kiwanis Club, the Junior League of Anniston Calhoun, United Way and the Young Leaders Society.

Oh, Anna-Marie says, "Geaux Saints!"
